BARNAUL AMMUNITION

Affordable .300 Blackout steel case ammunition has arrived. Barnaul Ammunition's .300 Blackout is a 145-grain supersonic cartridge with a polymer-coated steel case moving at 1,985 feet per second. Finally, an option that doesn't break the bank and with the power you want.

BLACK HILLS AMMUNITION

The 6.5mm Creedmoor 120-grain Hornady GMX from Black Hills Ammunition offers up to 50 percent more penetration, plus higher weight retention. It generally retains nearly 100 percent of its weight, compared to 50 to 70 percent for lead-core bullets. It also opens immediately upon impact, causing large-diameter wound cavities and anchoring game quickly and humanely.

UNDERWOOD AMMO

Based on the Xtreme Defense Fluid Transfer Monolithic (FTM) family of projectiles, the EXD projectile has optimized flute geometry, total weight and velocity to achieve a penetration depth up to 18 inches with a permanent wound cavity that is simply enormous; no expanding hollowpoint comes close to achieving this collective volume of wound cavity.

SHELL SHOCK TECHNOLOGIES

If you loved Shell Shock's lightweight 9mm cases, wait until you try their new calibers coming soon, including 5.56x45mm, .300 BLK, .380 ACP, .40 S&W and others. Lighter than brass, more powder capacity, greater consistency between rounds, and can be picked up with a magnet. Satisfies global military mandates to reduce ammunition weight and increase performance. All Shell Shock's cases are proudly made in the USA. Shell Shock ... Shoot it, Love it!
